Problem Statement

- While many pet care websites exist, none show clear photos or demonstrations of how to use different grooming tools properly.

Details

- There are a wide variety of things you can use to groom your pet, but the only problem is there aren't always step-to-step guides on how to use the product which can really damage your pet's fur or cause life threatening problems if used improperly. Different breeds also require different grooming treatment which is why this is something that teaches you how to groom your pet would work tremendously.
